Introduction

CONSTRUCT 2006 conference is a CIB Co-sponsored event which will take place on the Gold Coast, Australia in September 2006 from 28-30. Over two and a half days CONSTRUCT 2006 will address the key issues relevant to all professional builders and other stakeholders with an interest in the building and construction industry. The Conference is organised by the Australian Institute of Building (AIB).

The Program

The program for CONSTRUCT 2006 is being finalised in conjunction with leading building professionals and sponsorship partners and focuses on:
- Recruiting and retaining talented staff
- Managing a permanent skills-shortage
- Case studies – getting it right
- Public sector project tendering and management
- Compliance documentation and regulatory developments
- Succession planning and future-proofing

Focusing on issues relevant to today’s building professionals, Construct 2006 deals with issues relevant to individual managers rather than the industry itself. This personalised focus underlines the importance of attending Construct 2006.

Who Should Attend

It is expected that Construct 2006 will attract more than 150 delegates from Australia and the Asia-Pacific region. Reflecting the profile of AIB’s membership, those attending will include the following individuals from the building profession:
- Building CEOs & General Managers
- Project Managers and senior site staff
- Quantity Surveyors and Building Surveyors
- Consultants and allied professionals
- Academics in building disciplines
- State and Local Government Officers

Venue

The Conference is at the Gold Coast Sofitel hotel and is designed to allow those attending Construct 2006 to balance both work and play, particularly with a partner’s program designed for families. This combination attracts senior professionals to Construct 2006.
