Around the Task Groups and Working Commissions TG61 - Benchmarking Construction Performance Data One-year Mandate Extension

At its meeting in Copenhagen, Denmark on 7-8 October 2007, the CIB Board has decided to grant a one-year mandate extension of TG61 on Benchmarking Construction Performance Data.

Deliverables

In addition to a final comprehensive report the TG anticipates completion of the following deliverables:

- A worldwide publication and internet posting of performance information measurements, indicators, processes, and data on design, construction, and facility management.
- Inventory of parties interested in (including CIB working commissions and task groups, construction industry participants and researchers) and sources of information about (including journal and conference papers) the use of performance information and performance databases.
- Results from an analysis of a survey of clients of the use, impact, sustainability and results of performance information and databases.
- Listing of potential research areas pertaining to performance information, performance data, and the management of performance information.
- Conference/meeting proceedings for peer reviewed works in the area of performance information implementation and value.
- Creation of a new journal that will publish papers on the collection, warehousing, implementation and impact of performance information in the delivery of construction and other services.
