34th International Symposium on Water Supply and Drainage for Buildings

Hong Kong, China, 8-10 September 2008

Introduction

CIB Working Commission W062 holds its 34th annual symposium in Hong Kong with the Department of Building Services Engineering, The Hong Kong Polytechnic University as the organizer. On behalf of the commission and organizer, the Organizing Committee is pleased to invite you to participate in this CIB W062 2008 34th International Symposium on Water Supply and Drainage for Buildings, to be held on 8-10 September, 2008, in Hong Kong, China.

The symposium is open to all experts, researchers, practitioners, regulators and industry from all over the world, with an interest in the developments in the field of water supply and drainage for buildings.

Symposium Objectives

The aim of this symposium is to provide a forum where participants will be informed and exchange:

- experiences on recent developments in water supply and drainage for buildings
- information on the characteristics and performances of systems and data for their design
- on the implementation of codes and standards
- on future research coordination

Topics

Within the general area of concern, the topics in which papers are encouraged should preferably include the following:

- management and maintenance of water systems, commissioning, non destructive techniques, water conditioning, health aspects
- sustainable construction, water conservation, rainwater and grey water reuse
- hydraulics of water systems in high-rise buildings
- influence of natural disaster, flooding, earthquakes, terrorism

- durability, materials, historic buildings
- standardisation, certification, drinking water regulations

Call for Papers

Authors are invited to submit an abstract (200-400 words) for consideration by the scientific committee. All abstracts must be in English and sent as a Microsoft Word file with a name containing the corresponding author's name, by email to the symposium secretariat, Miss Ida Leung, bew062@polyu.edu.hk before 31 March 2008.
