Special Track CIB World Building Congress for W065 - Organisation and Management of Construction

CIB World Congress 2010

Special Track W065

The next CIB World Congress will take place in Salford, United Kingdom in May 2010. CIB W065 will be hosting a special track on the theme of 'New Approaches in the Organisation and Management of Construction.' The construction industry in recent years has shaped (and been shaped by) rapidly changing built environment, which have led to innovation in the way we organise and manage construction. In this special track we are interested in researchers presenting ideas, which encourage dialogue as to what are the necessary disruptive trends for research and practice in the organisation and management of construction over the next five to ten years.

Topics

Topics may include, but are not limited to new theory, research and methods in:

- Project-based organisational structures and processes
- Innovation intensification and diffusion
- Technological communities and networks
- Critical perspectives of organisation and management
- Human resource management
- Socio-technical systems

Further details about the conference can be found at www.cib2010.com.
