CIB Encouraged Journals

CIB officially encourages a select number of international journals. The status of a CIB Encouraged Journal is granted only sparingly and certain strict conditions must be met, including:

- a defined relationship between the Journal and one or more CIB Commissions, who will exercise a preference to publish their output in this Journal
- a clear position of influence on the journal's content and editorial policy by an appointed CIB representative, who in most cases will be the Coordinator of the CIB Commission that has the special relationship
- a concessionary subscription rate for CIB Members

As at the end of 2005 there are the following CIB Encouraged Journals:

- Building Research & Information
- Construction Management and Economics
- Applied Acoustics
- Energy and Buildings
- Automation in Construction

- Engineering, Construction and Architectural Management
- ITcon - Electronic Journal of Information Technology in Construction
In 2005 CIB has taken over as Publisher of ITcon.
- Revista Ingeniería de Construcción
- Construction Innovation
- Open House International (OHI)
- Computer-Aided Civil and Infrastructure Engineering (CACAE)
- Journal of Fire Protection and Engineering
- Architectural Engineering and Design Management
- Journal of Housing, Building and Planning
- The Journal of Financial management of Property and Construction

Information on all the journals including hyperlinks can be found here.

In 2005 the last of the above mentioned journals has been awarded the status of CIB encouraged journal.
